COAST PILGRIMAGE TO VISIT HERE TUESDAY, MAR. 19

Pilgrims will visit Bay St. Louis and Waveland, March 19, on which day the Bay-Waveland Garden Club will be hosts to the hundreds of visitors who will come for the Gulf Coast Spring Pilgrimage, sponsored by the Coast Council of Garden Clubs.

With considerable local and national advertising, the Council is anticipating one of the largest delegations of Pilgrims this year for the planned tours.

No charge is attached to the Bay-Waveland tour, except for the luncheon which will be served by the Garden Club at the Yacht Club at a cost of $1.50 per person.

Reservations for this should be made in advance, either call Mrs. Frank Kiefer, phone 419, Pilgrimage Chairman, or Mrs. Al Voight, 318, Garden Club President. Local residents are urged to attend this luncheon, and to make advance reservations.

Mrs. Leo Seal, Chairman of Beautification for the Bay-Waveland Club, Bay St. Louis, and Mrs. H. H. Thompson, Chairman of Waveland, requests all residents of the two communities to clean up yards so that as pretty a face as possible may be presented visitors by the areas of the community to be visited.

City Officials of both towns are assisting the Garden Club in the clean-up program.

A minimum goal of $4,368.00 is the objective of Hancock County's American Red Cross chapter in the annual nationwide Fund Campaign which opened this week according to Kenneth Pepperdene, local resident recently named Regional Fund Campaign Chairman for the 1956-57 drive.

"When our local volunteer comes calling at your door, remember it is the voice of your Red Cross asking you to join and serve so that none may lack help in the time of need," Mr. Pepperdene said in an appeal addressed to all residents of the area.

Echoing these statements, J. Cyril Glover, Red Cross chapter chairman in Hancock County, said: "A nation-wide network of Red Cross chapters is ready to give disaster aid immediately to any locality hit by catastrophe. We here in Hancock County should certainly realize how fortunate we are to have an active chapter in our midst. We have witnessed many times how quickly our volunteer forces were mustered into action in times of emergency, the most recent being the hurricane alert last fall in cooperation with Civil Defense, Red Cross workers manned their various post all through the night and gave assistance to hundreds of persons affected in the areas threatened by flood.

"This is just one of the many services rendered by our local Red Cross. Let's keep our chapter and others on the job WHEN IT COUNTS by supporting your Red Cross this month. JOIN AND SERVE!"

Circuit Court will convene

Hancock County, Monday, March 11. A full docket is slated for the third trial of Dale Morris, expected to crowd out other cases.

Morris was first tried in March 1956 for the alleged slaying of Charles Flink in the doorway of his Highway 90 home on Thursday evening, 1955. A twelve-man jury failed to render a verdict with one juror failing to hear the accused man guilty, as accused. Judge Leslie Grant, before whom the case was tried, called the case a mistrial.

Morris was kept in the Harrison County jail in Gulfport pending a second trial which took place in November 1956. For six days the case continued through day and night sessions.

Boyce Holleman, District Attorney, pressed first degree murder charges against Morris, which automatically called for the death penalty.

The Jury went out at about 10:30 p. m. on Friday night. They remained locked up until midday Saturday at which time they informed Judge Grant they had not reached a verdict. The judge ordered them back giving a time limit of several hours, to attempt to reach a unanimous decision, but at the expiration of the time, the foreman advised the judge they were still deadlocked with a three to nine decision. Three of the jurors would not agree to the death penalty. The foreman further advised Judge Grant it was his opinion the men would not change opinions on either viewpoint, and no matter how long they were confined they would remain unchanged. Judge Grant again called the case a mistrial, and set the third trial for the 1957 March convening of Circuit Court.

During the trial Morris was kept in Gulfport, commuting each day under heavy armed guards. Morris has never made bond and has remained in the Harrison County jail since his arrest in New Orleans the night following the fatal shooting of Flink, in 1955.

Defense Attorneys are Howard McDonnell, Biloxi, and Cornelius Ladner, Bay St. Louis.

Elliott tendered his resignation on the strength of this law.

The Executive Board of the Local Legion Post accepted Elliott's resignation with regret, stating that he had proven a fine commander while holding this office.

WAVELAND

WANDERINGS

GEORGETTE B. HALL

The long anticipated and planned for Carnival Ball was held last Friday evening in St. Joseph's gymnasium and this year's pageant and court proved to be one of the most beautiful in recent years. Dr. and Mrs. Ollo Mollere, of Waveland, held sway over their hundreds of loyal subjects. Dr. Mollere was a handsome, impressive king, and his lovely wife, exquisitely gowned, would have made any present day queen look to her laurels. Reigning in a pink glow of soft muted colors, the king's white and silver, the royal couple were surrounded by members of the court whose appearances added to the beauty of the occasion. It was a grand evening for Waveland since both their royal majesties live in this little town. Several members of the court were also Wavelandites and later at the King's supper at the Bay Waveland Yacht Club, many friendly and familiar faces from Waveland were among the large crowd. The royal box in the St. Joseph's gym, reserved for members of the king's and queen's families, really gave the secret of the king's and queen's identities away before the curtain rose in the evening's splendor. Mrs. Charles Mollere, mother of the king, Miss Hazel Herlihy, Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Herlihy, and daughter, Mary Lou, Mrs. Brewster Mollere; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Herlihy and daughter, Kathleen, all relatives of Dr. Mollere, were escorted to the royal box, and those who had been guessing and speculating for weeks about the identity of the royal couple guessed who they were. All in all it was a grand evening and will be long remembered. Long live their royal majesties, Dr. and Mrs. Ollo Mollere!

Among the delightful floats entered in the local Mardi Gras parade held Tuesday in Bay St. Louis was the Waveland School entry "The First Thanksgiving." Although the float did not win a prize, it was the cause of much comment for its originality, thought, and appeal. On the float was a rough hewn table, on top of which was a horn of plenty filled with fruit. A baked chicken (looking very edible), and a covered clay dish provided the table of Waveland, walked off with first place honors among the horsemen who rode in the parade. Hamilton, who rode an Indian chief, rode his horse "Toby" bareback in true Indian fashion. His outfit was blue satin, handsomely embroidered in beads, and he wore a large feather headdress that really made him look like a great Indian warrior. Other horsemen from Waveland were Kenneth Duval, A. J. Frey, Jr., Bonnie Favre, Joan Ann Villere, Wilbert Nunez, Brenda Salvant, Dan McCall and Paula Crider.

"The First Chinese" float was another of Waveland's entries. Riding on this one were about 17 of Waveland's happiest adults. They were dressed as Chinamen. This float carried a band which played rock and roll music in true Southern style.

Mr. Erick Trostl, grandson of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Tucker of Waveland, performed March 2 on the Big Top Circus television show televised over Channel 5 at 11:00 A. M. Mr. Trostl is with the great Arturas, famous aerial act. He will perform again on Saturday, March 9, when the show is televised at the same time. Trostl recently married Miss Catherine Giordano of New Orleans. The Arturas appeared last summer in an aerial act at Pontchartrain Beach and expect to appear at the popular amusement park again next summer. At the present time, Mr. and Mrs. Trostl are residing in Tampa, Florida.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Hall and daughter, Miss Lynn Hall, enjoyed dinner in New Orleans Saturday and attended "The Ten Commandments."

A late happy birthday greeting goes to Mrs. Elizabeth Courage of Lakeshore. She celebrated her 92nd birthday March 1. As years go by this gracious lady doesn't seem to grow any older. She is cheerful, wise and understanding and shares life with many of her loved ones. The blessings of the entire community go to "Big Mama" on her birthday.

Sympathy is extended to the family and relatives of Mrs. Clarence Connell of Waveland who passed away suddenly Monday evening. Mrs. Connell had planned to ride on the Chinese float from Waveland in Tuesday's parade and had even made her costume. Her unexpected death was a great shock. Interment was in New Orleans.

Sympathy is also extended to the family and friends of Mrs. W. M. Bozeman who died recently in New Orleans after a short illness. Mrs. Bozeman lived in Waveland

State Health Department Says Will Your Family Be Protected Against Polio?

Time running out for polio protection. For as soon as summer comes, so will the danger of polio infection. The health department is getting the children, children and young adults are laying themselves out for the summer of recreation.

Before it is too late, I urge every parent to consider this question: When summer comes, will my family be protected?

The only insurance against paralytic polio is a series of three shots of vaccine given at stated intervals over a period of about a month apart, with the third about seven months later.

It is already too late for those who have not yet started the vaccine series to complete the recommended three injections before summer's increase in polio. But happily for the large number for many years where the first host of friends. Many will remember her for her church work and her willingness to help in any community project.

such an expense although ordinary, was not necessary. All individuals, of course, will welcome this particular provision. There has been a great deal of discussion concerning expenses sustained by members of partnerships and officers of corporations. The position is taken here that such an expense should form the basis of an expense account submitted to the partnership or to the employer and that reimbursement to the individual should be made therefor.

"All interest paid" is an all-embracing term and it means just that with the single exception of interest paid on sums borrowed to purchase tax-exempt bonds. It is not often met for the reason that tax-exempt securities pay a low rate of interest at least lower than the ordinary commercial rate.

GETTING STARTED IN OUTBOARDING
How do you get started on outboard?
There are two ways to do it, says Charles A. Breath, owner of Breath's Boats and Motors which is participating in the nationwide Air-Rammy Boat Show sponsored by Johnson Motors, the nation's biggest outboard manufacturer.

How do you get started in outboard?
There are two ways to do it, says the Johnson Motors News Bureau.

First you can jump in head first with your eyes closed. This way you'll probably buy a boat completely unsuited for your purposes and a motor completely unsuited for the boat.

The second and proper is to give yourself a little time to get acquainted with boating by getting acquainted with boaters.

Shop around the marine businesses in your community—not to buy but to see what sort of boats are popular in your town and why.

Compare prices and quality of boats and motors. Pick up catalog and booklets and read about outboarding.

You'll be surprised at the amount of knowledge you can pick up in a week's time of doing this and you'll have a better idea of the type of boat and motor that will fit your needs.

If you're got budget problems and are considering the purchase of a used boat, it's especially essential you give yourself time to learn something about boats and motors. Buying a used boat from a private party can be a ticklish matter if you don't know anything about boats. If a used boat and motor is what you intend to buy, you'd be wise to contact a reputable marine dealer.

Here's What A Customer Says:

"Our family is enjoying the new JITNEY-JUNGLE BREAD which we buy in Brookhaven. More so than any bread we've used in years.

"Its texture, flavor, size of slices, and economy in price puts it in a class to itself. When I put a loaf in the freezer, it is not soggy with moisture when thawed out.

"It is so very different we want you to know how much some customers enjoy it."

Respectfully,
Mrs. F. B. H., Wesson, Miss.

Just a simple twist of the cellophane wrapper on a loaf of JITNEY-JUNGLE BREAD reveals it instantly . . . keeps your bread much fresher longer.
